FROM the SIDELINES

By TAD TARG

"HAJRÁ" BUDAPEST!

Budapest SC was never lucky enough to get publicity.

They got less than enough from this paper, none from me in particular and, little from the daily Press.

And, that l i t t l e they've got, they wish, they'd never have received.

We read some reports about them at times, adverse comments mostly, about some of their players and their alleged misbehaviour.

I, happily, did n o t witness any of those or, maybe, these alleged incidents were not so significant nor important, as they were made appear.

I saw four of their competition matches this season — two wins (Auburn, Canterbury) and two losses (Corrimal, North Side).

I didn't notice anything untoward.

Against North Side last Saturday they fielded a depleted team, with three reserves and two "criples", who should not have taken the field and were not disgraced.

They led two-nil at one stage and, although badly outplayed in the second half, they were never really beaten.

They went down fighting in the best tradition and spirit of the sport.

No antics, no squealing, no excuses.

They lost the match, but won a lot of friends by the way they lost.

Me for one.

Wishing them luck for the future, I'll use the Hungarian "war cry" you might have heard on occasions — "Hajrá". (Pron. — Hayrah)

It's English equivalent — Hurrah!

"CINDERELLA" — PART II

Last week, I gave a general view of the situation in our Second Division.

Here's some more about what clubs are doing.

St. George, a very progressive club with First Division appetite, are signing up first grade players; Pan Hellenic has some Greek first-graders "on order".

Two Third Division clubs, Toongabbie and Manly, might both get Second Divison status, thanks to the amalgamation of Concord and Concordia, and could more than hold their own.

Concordia United, plus a couple of German importations, will be a tough nut.

Another team with high ambitions, P o l o n i a, will make a strong challenge.

This club, after playing — to put it mildly — average football for 10 years decided to do something drastic to lift itself out of the "rut".

It's reorganised and rejuvenated committee launched a campaign to finance about half a dozen first class "imports" from Poland.

Negotiations are in full swing, both in Sydney (money ,immigration) and in Poland (players, transfers) and — if all goes well — they will arrive, I am told, before the beginning of the next season.

The club plans to expand into the Western Suburbs, icorporating this name at a later stage.

On the right track

In the Gladesville v Prague and Hakoah v Prague games last week two different tactical plans were used to combat Prague.

In the first instance, Gladesville applied a defensive system which English teams usually employ when opposing continental sides.

They allowed Prague to pass the ball as much as they liked in mid-field, concentrating on close-marking and blocking their shots within the penalty area.

Of course, a team must have the "material" to succeed in these tactics and Gladesville seemed to have it on the day.

On the other hand, Hakoah tried to beat Prague at their own game — by continous attack and switching of positions.

The mastermind of the Hakoah forward line was their new Austrian arrival — Wesely.

And Hakoah could have succeeded had he had a couple of players that "spoke his language" — and, I don't mean it literally.

The best form of defence is attack and Hakoah set out on the right path.

All teams will have to switch to attacking football if they want to cope with teams like Prague and Canterbury.

Attacking football will bring higher scores and a brighter football.

A GOOD START

Walter WESELY after his first Sydney appearance, is already elligigible for one of my "medals" for gallantry.

Last Saturday one of his team-mates clashed with Lord, Prague's 'keeper.

As Lord lay sprawling on the ground, seemingly hurt, the ball rebounded back into play.

Wesely did not chase after it.

All he was interested in that moment was Lord.

He styed with him until he was sure Lord was O.K.

This little noticed incident, combined with Wesely's skillful display on the field, was a wonderful start to, I hope, a brilliant soccer career in this country.

Australian Assocn. must think big and ACT BIG

Australia has the opportunity next weekend to set the stage to become a soccer nation of world renown.

On September 12 the Council of the Australian Soccer Football Association meets in Melbourne to discuss matters of vital importance to all States.

We say vital because this meeting can do much to weld the States together at a time when we hear of so much disunity in soccer.

This Council has a chance to act as an administrative body and not just a "tour committee", as it has been in the last 30 odd years.

Soccer in Sydney has made giant strides in the last three years.

FOLLOWING

Crowds at club games are the largest in the game's history, while the administrative body can boast of a five figure bank balance.

In Melbourne, we know their crowds, too, are similar and their approach to the game appears to be modelled on Federation lines.

They too, have a healthy balance.

In Queensland and South Australia there are slight differences, none of which provide insuperable obstacles.

It all adds up to progress, despite what our critics say.

Can those 10,000 crowds be increased to 20,000? We say yes!

It is up to the meeting to decide whether they limit their soccer development to within their State organisations or open up a vast new horizon to the mutual benefit of all.

Are we statisfied with our efforts from an international viewpoint?

How does our country fare in international discussions?

Are we happy about our past international performances and the manner in which overseas teams have been brought here?

Are the right men sitting in the executive positions?

Have they anything to show for their 30 years in office?

What can promoters Gold or Skolnik tell us of financial dealings in previous tours?

Of course, one of the main points of discussion will be the question of players migrating to Australia.

It is not a matter of Baumgartner, Jaros and Saghi, but all migrants desirous of making their homes in Australia.

In almost any profession Australia offers opportunities without restrictions.

Why a migrant, who happens to be a soccer player, in addition to his usual calling as fitter and turner, tailor or whatever his trade may be, should have certain restrictions on his existence here as a condition of migration, we are at a loss to understand.

Take the case of Jock Aird, now full back with Hakoah.

He has no peers in this country so far as full backs are concerned.

He played for Scotland in the 1954 World Cup.

His English club was Burnley.

RIGHTS

He decided to marry and settle in New Zealand as a means to securing his future.

Has anyone the right to say he cannot emigrate or even bar him from playing his favorite sport in New Zealand?

Should he decide to return to England, then we say he must return to Burnley, that is if Burnley still want him.

Now lets take the position of the Prague players.

We recall that FK Astria toured Australia some few years back.

Baumgartner, Tamandl and Jaros were members of that team.

In Austria they were not full-time professional soccer players.

They were miserably under paid workers tied up with a firm which ran a soccer team, as Metters and Goodyear did here some years ago.

Imagine the FK Austrian players' surprise when they toured this country, saw and heard of the opportunities prevailing and compared them with Austria.

The "seeds" of migration were sown on that tour.

On returning to Vienna, players told their families of this — "great country of the South".

Some decided to migrate.

Is it surprising that others have come, and dozens more desire to follow?

The "screaming" headlines of the Austrian newspapers tell their readers of our soccer migrant's "unhappiness' and "misery" in Sydney and "warn" other would be migrants not to fall into a similar "tragedy".

BUSINESS

Those of us who know otherwise can convey a picture of success and a state of their being happily established here and, what's more, a great advertisement for Australia — the land of opportunities.

We are not a soccer nation in the same sense as England, Scotland, Spain or even Italy.

I these countries soccer is played by clubs which are business enterprizes, controlled by directors of shareholding companies.

Here we are only social groups, banded together in committees to provide an outlet for our enthusiasm in game of common interest.

There is a move to organise it on a basis similar to overseas.

When that day comes then we shall compete with all for world class players.

PROGRESS DESPITE THE CRITICS

Pars on soccer have become quite fashionable with sports columnists in the daily Press, not that soccer followers mind in the least, but some of the material published is too silly for words and more often than not inaccurate and way off the beem.

One columnist claimed, in a clumsy attempt to belittle Sydney soccer, that 18,000 had watched a recent Melbourne premiership club game.

Actually the official attendance was just under 12,000 — a very good figure indeed, but well short of the huge crowd stated.

The columnist went on to say that in 1923 more than 40,000 saw an international match and that, even in these early days, soccer had been tipped to become a major sport by 1935.

As this did not, of course, eventuate, he very "wisely" predicted that soccer in the years to come would always remain the "ugly duckling" of Australian sport.

He is entitled to his opinion, but let me remind him that the school kids of 30, 20 and even five years ago had no reasonably good club games to watch over the weekend and naturally drifted towards other codes.

Today with the tremendous improvement in club standard matches are well patronised and youngsters form an imposing proportion of any soccer crowd.

In years to come club and all these thousands of school boys will flock to matches where they will be able to watch good soccer and benefit from it.

This was impossible before the advent of the Federation, and though some sections of the Press are trying to "destroy" the progressive present soccer set-up we are justifiably proud of the progress the code has made in the metropolitan area.

J. Mack, Redfern.

Glamor in club names

Reference reports of Budapest's intention of changing its name to South Sydney.

I am all for teams such as Budapest, Hakoah, Prague, APIA etc changing their names, but not to drab old names as South Sydney, Eastern Suburbs, Western Districts etc.

Names of clubs should have some glamor and distinction about them, as well as just localities.

For instance take some of the top clubs overseas — Wolverhampton Wanderers, Glasgow Rangers, Arsenal, Heart of Midlothian, Real Madrid, Rapid and FK Austria.

North Side United have shown the way in Sydney.

They could have called themselves North Sydney, Northern Districts, North Shore, Northern Suburbs or something equally dull, but they came up with something a bit distinctive.

How about such names as South End Rovers or Wanderers for Budapest.

APIA could become the Lechhardt XI or FC Leichhardt; Hakoah become East End or East Side Rovers or Wanderers.

I am not advocating that these particular names be adopted, but feel that a little thought could produce names that mean something a little more than just a locality.

TEAM of the WEEK

Every week an A and B team is selected from the best players in First Division teams.

The best A team player is nominated as the "Player of the Week" and scores three points.

All other A team nominations receive two points and B team players one point.

The player with the highest number of points at the end of the season will automatically become Player of the Year.

Ampol Cup fixtures, Federation Cup matches and the competition semi-finals, final and grand-final are not taken into account.

Here are the players who stood out in last weekend's two rounds of matches.

RAY NEAL

(CANTERBURY)

This brilliant inside left switchd to the right wing early in last Saturday's match and combined perfectly with his outside man to give his club a well deserved win.

Neal displayed his best form of the year and now that he is settled down should consistanly reproduce the form that made him one of Australia's leading forwards.

He played with great confi- speed and deft footwork. speed and left footwork.

His distribution was always to advantage and his timing perfect.

This weekend's games preview

PRAGUE v APIA

The biggest club game crowd in the history of the code in NSW should attend this eagerly-awaited clash at the E. S. Marks Field on Sunday.

What a terrific "battle" this match should be, with Prague undefeated and APIA running second and only narrowly downed in an incident-packed first round match at Lambert Park.

APIA have not forced their talent for a long while now, being content to score some quick goals and "sit back."

Last week's match against Balgownie was no exception.

The Leichhardt team really coasted along to win effortlessly, with the halves again supreme.

Main feature of the match was Vasvary's return to form.

He took more interest in the game, but will have to improve on his previous displays if he is to test the fabulous Scheinflug, one of Prague brightest stars.

De Paoli shone in the first half, but "went out" later, as did most of the other players.

APIA are balanced enough to win matches week after week without too much trouble, and though this is a reflection of this team's strength it is also an indication that the players might not be able to withstand Prague's terrific pace throughout.

Marston and his rear defence can be relied upon to check Tamandl, Saghi and Baumgartner, but it is another question whether the forward line will function well on the large playing surface.

APIA have yet to be convincing on the E. S. Marks Field.

Prague gave an outstanding display to beat Hakoah last Sunday.

They showed remarkable team — work and did well to rally when their opponents were playing at full pace and looked like causing a big upset.

O'Neil, Sherwin, Scheinflug, Hiron and Jaros were the best of the side and this goes to prove that the defence lives up to the reputation of the world-class forward line.

The halves and backs worked tirelessly, and O'Neil once again showed how much he has improved since joining Prague.

The forwards, though they scored four goals, were a bit hesitant and Saghi is definitely off-form lately.

Tamandl worked hard, but all other forwards, including Baumgartner and especially Schwartz, were nowhere near top form.

They will be thoroughly tested by the strong APIA defence, which is proving so hard to pass.

Sunday's match will be a clash between Prague's star-studded forwards and APIA's defence.

But I feel that the home

VASVARY

team will again get the upper hand because of a superior half line, which is bound to keep its forwards well "fed."

If Baumgartner is completely fit and Saghi and Schwartz in better form, PRAGUE should win and win convincingly, but APIA has the talent to delight its supporters and gain a draw.

AUBURN v CANTERBURY

This is another very important match for the Berries because they cannot afford to lose if they are to play in the semi-finals.

Canterbury now is playing its best football of the season and should thoroughly test the very disappointing Auburn XI.

They were untroubled to defeat Gladesville and the score was no indication of the general trend of play.

The forward line functioned extrememely well, but Jimmy Moore's ill-timed injury could be costly at a stage where the team battling for full points every match.

Ray Neal gave a superb display at inside left.

When this gifted player is fit and brimming with confidence, which has not been the case very often this season, he is our best local-born inside left.

Auburn is having its worst season ever and their indifferent form is hard to explain.

They were strengthened by the inclusion of Morrow and Dayney, and after their flying start in the Ampol Cup were tipped by many to finish on the top of the table.

But against that they have been beset by injuries.

In addition, last year's experienced full backs retired and the young players who took their place, while willing enough have not yet bridged the gap.

Auburn were very weak against Concord and were lucky to snatch a draw.

Their opponents were on top for most of the first half and should have scored more goals.

The visitors were in control for the last 35 minutes, but atrocious shooting by the forwards marred their chances.

This weekend's game should see CANTERBURY win, reversing the first round result.

BANKSTOWN v CONCORD

This will be the battle of the woodenspooners and the result will have no bearing on relegation as Concord are already "doomed".

But a win could put Bankstown ahead of Balgownie at the end of the season, and this should provide the only incentive to the match.

Prospects

Since Concord have had nothing to gain from the competition, the team has been playing quite well.

Last week's draw was a good result and had the forwards taken more chances and kicked with more accuracy in the first half they could have won the game.

Concord has no fears about relegation as their progressive amalgamation with SC Concordia assures them of a bright future.

We could see them back in the First Division in two years, after a year of building-up in the lower grade.

Bankstown disappointed by going down to Granville just when it was having a good run.

This season has been the club's worst ever, but next year should see them once again playing a major role in the set-up they helped to bring into being.

The club needs a good pair of inside men and with Wainwright as centre forward, the team could have an excellent forward line.

I am tipping a win for BANKSTOWN, but definitely think Concord has an even chance of upsetting this forecast.

GLADESVILLE v CORRIMAL

A fast and hard game can be expected when these two teams meet, as there is in little between then and they play a similar brand football and use similar tactics.

Gladesville disappointed somewhat in going down to Canterbury after having held Prague to a draw midweek but I feel that the "let-down" was natural.

Gladesville deserved their draw against the leaders, but the way in which they gained it might not have earned high favor.

They went on the field with the sole objective of bustling their more polished rivals, instead of trying to beat them by playing better football.

They succeeded, but I feel that if many more games are played in that style and frame of mind the public will stay away in droves.

Pettigrew has been playing remarkably well lately and it was a shock to see him so uncomfortable last Saturday when opposed to J. Watkiss.

He could, nevertheless, play a decisive part in the match against Corrimal and his duel with Learmonth will be worth watching.

The inside trio of Brown, Foster and Hume is not living up to expectations.

This is hard to follow as the two inside men are excellent footballers and should make the most of a very hard-hitting centre forward.

Hume is a "beautiful" soccer player, indeed, but why does he have to mar many a fine display with temperamental outbursts.

Corrimal have no worries as far as making the finals are concerned, but will be keen to overtake APIA for second place if the latter "slip" and lose precious points, which at this stage seems unlikely.

The South Coast team will find the ground a big handicap and this could be their greatest worry, as I feel that they otherwise will have the edge on their opponents in most departments.

Though Corrimal is not half as good as in recent years it still has determination and a very efficent half-back line.

These two factors will help them gain one point at least

SQUAD CHOSEN

In the Sydney XI selected to play the Queensland Under 18 team at Lidcombe Oval under floodlights next Tuesday, the following Granville and Gladesville District plaeyrs make up the training squad from which the final Sydney XI will be chosen:

Goalkeepers, Gough (Gran.), Bragg (Glades.); backs, Zeman, Sinclair (Glades.) Malcolm, Minnet (Gran.); halves, Allison, Crozier (Gran.), Langtry, Robinson (Glades.); forwards, Tonbridge, Partridge, Dickinson, Ogden, (Glades.), Pollock, O'Loughlin, Johnson, Rustin, (Gran.).

FLOODLIGHT GAMES

Illawarra Junior Association has been approached by the Granville Junior Association with a view to staging an annual competition between the two Associations.

The novel plan, as yet to be accepted, is to stage a gala night under floodlights featuring the rep. teams from each Association.

Granville would present their night at Lidcombe Oval, while the following year, Illawarra would be hosts in on the Coast.

The idea could be built up to a feature for each Association and a show-case of junior talent for the general public.

WEEKEND PREVIEW

and that is why I am favouring a DRAW.

This game which will be a "no beg pardons", one with plenty of action and excitement, though the finer points of the game might he lacking

BUDAPEST v GRANVILLE

Granville had a smashing first round win over a very dispirited Budapest and though the odds favor GRANVILLE I think the result will be close.

Granville scored a convincing win over Bankstown last week, while Budapest played quite delightful soccer at the E. S. Marks Field.

But once again the latter cracked under pressure and lost a match they had well in hand after the first half-hour.

Budapest played some beautiful football at times and they are one of the prettiest teams to watch, but I feel that the side lacks the moral fibre which makes teams great.

When they are winning there is no stopping them, but once they face adversity they fold up and are easy prey for their opponents.

Galambos was a "crock" last Saturday and did nothing well, quite a change for this brilliant goal-notcher.

It was left to Schauman and the surprising reserves Lang and Lorik to shine on the wings.

Tiny Lang — so irritating when playing in the reserves — was seen at his best and did well.

Granville kept its experimental team and to everybody's surprise played extremely well to upset Bankstown at MacArthur Park.

Centre forward Smith and inside right Donaldson scored grand goals and were the best with Garside and Hawkins.

Granville is now intent on ending ahead of its local rivals, Auburn, and they could well do it as their last two games are well in their grasp.

It would be a great satisfaction to the club if it could achieve this in its first year of Federation soccer.

The club is already preparing for its first round Ascot Cup match against Prague at the Sydney Sports Ground.

A special squad has gone into training and Prague can be assured of a very hard match, as intensive training and special tactical lectures can work wonders.

I expect GRANVILLE to take this match, but the winning margin will be a small one.

Home side favored

The home side is favored to win because they are more solid and their defence could bottle up their opponents, especially if Galambos is not properly fit.

BALGOWNIE v NORTH SIDE

Having only lost one match in the last 12 North Side United will be a tremendous opponent for Balgownie.

A good crowd will be attenddance to watch NSU's Delzio and Varglin try to gain the upper-hand on their former team-matches, Garipoli, Ganis and Livotto.

North Side gave a good account of themselves last Saturday when they equalised before half time after being down two goals early in the match against Budapest.

Johnny Wong lost countless balls by excessive dribbling, but won the game for his team with a terrific goal.

Varglein was not impressive and appeared clumsy.

Delzio was also poor, but Brian Taber played remarkably well.

North Side managed to win despite mediocre displays by several players, which was a credit to the half line which battled along tirelessly.

North Side are now equal seventh and have high hopes of finishing sixth on the table

Watch out for NSU in the Ascot "1000".

It will give APIA a torrid time on September 23 and in my book rate an even money proposition, as a good Cup showing would be a fitting finish to the club's best season ever.

Though well beaten, Balgownie were not disgraced at Lambert Park last Sunday.

Once again the half back line gave a masterly display of efficient tackling and cover defence.

Garipoli continued his good run of fine displays and the full backs, though often passed by their nippy opponents, clung to the ball well.

The forwards were once again week and since the glorious weekend they scored 10 goals against Hakoah and Sydney Austral have been badly off-form, in spite of Ganis' welcome return to the team.

Spectators will see a fairly even game but NORTH SIDE must be favored to take both points.

SYD. AUSTRAL v HAKOAH

Hakoah will only have to reproduce last week's form to win this match and come a step closer to the semis.

Hakoah gave a surprisingly good display last Sunday when they held Prague until the last 15 mintes.

Wesely future star

They deserve full credit as they did it through sheer skill and excellent football, instead of adopting bustling tactics.

The fans will flock to see more games like this.

The team made a very bright aquisition in Walter Wesely.

He will be invaluable in coming matches and should be his new team's spearhead next season.

Hakoah has gained a top forward at last, and if Levinson, the season's surprise-packet, can keep on shining, Sydney Austral will find a terrific job ahead of them on Saturday

The other forwards were disjointed.

Hearns tried very hard but met with little success; hard-hitting, rangy Burgoyne was unlucky to see two terrific shots hit the uprights, and Forgács was never in the game

With its slender lead, Hakoah will have to play more as a team to keep its fourth place and it was quite a shock to see the defence torn wide apart in the dying stages.

Walsh was disappointing and kicked the ball without much purpose and often was caught out of position.

Aranyi did a good job, but lacked the finer points of the game.

Outram and Aird played extremely well and should do so again this week when they clash with the solid Austral boys.

Sydney Austral were never in the running against Corrimal.

They are feeling the after-effects of a hard season in which they confounded every expert and played a leading role until the last few weeks.

Nevertheless, Sydney Austral is keen to upset Hakoah's cart again this year and the match should be a thriller.

Victorian News and Views

From L. K. STONE

State League leaders Wilhelmina had to fight hard to defeat Polonia 3—2 at Olympic Park in a tough and exciting match last weekend.

The Dutch, with a confortable 2—0 lead at half time, almost threw the match away by easing up and allowing Polonia to equalise.

Wilhelmina's goalgetters were Remners, Luyten and Keuken, in the last minute of the game.

Polonia's scorers were Bruce and Zavatier.

Geelong and JUST drew 1—1 in a fast, crowd-pleasing game at Corio Oval.

Geelong badly needed a win to avoid relegation, but found the excellent JUST defence in top form and difficult to penetrate.

Beattie was first to score for JUST and Veres got a well deserved equaliser for Geelong.

Hard as Box Hill played at the Showground, they found themselves pinned down by a tough Juventus defence and lost an exciting game by the narrow margin of 1—0.

Juventus did not field their strongest team, but Tomblin in place of regular centre forward Barbazza and Saicco in place of State pivot Frangioni played extremely well.

Veteran Box Hill captain coach Angus Drennan, was best player on the field, with Juventus goalie Vitty a close second.

Tomblin scored the only goal of the match.

Footscray richly deserved their important 2—0 victory over rather disappointing Hakoah, which lacked scoring ability.

Goals for the "Coffee Drinkers" were scored by veteran Bob Wemys and the nippy Dona.

Both goalscorers had their names taken by referee Bartiolli and old man Wemys was decidedly lucky not to receive marching orders after a foul on Hakoah's most dangerous forward, outside left Pettersen.

Dona's offence was time-wasting.

Footscray, after this fine win, have a very good chance of escaping relegation.

George Cross, second on the State League ladder, easily won 5—0 against Yarra Park inan uninspiring game.

Zammit returned after a period of suspension and scored two grand goals.

Copeland, Falzon and Bella were the other scorers for George Cross.

George Cross, superior almost in every department, were well served by Bill Copeland, Zammit and Falzon.

In a drab game in brilliant sunshine at Campbell Reserve, Slavia beat Moreland 1—0 in a typical end of the season performance by both teams.

Borotaj, Slavia goalkeeper is making a name for himself as a crack penalty kicker.

He scored from the spot last week and repeated the feat this week to score the only goal of the match.

Moreland's State defender McNeil made a welcome return after a long absence through injury.

Best for Slavia were Glennie, Bell and Berry.

For Moreland, Oxton, McNeil and Steward were the stars.

TIME TO THINK, ACT BIG

Until then, we remain, just social clubs — eagerly watching the horizon for ships and planes carrying migrants to this country, hopeful that they may bring soccer players whose standard will appeal to our club enthusiasts, who can offer a home or job that may help to establish them in this country.

OFFICIAL DIES

We regret to have to record that popular Bankstown soccer indentity Mr Syd Thomas died this week.

Syd, former treasurer of the NSW SFA, was 53 years of age.

Big charity game again

Mr Bil Ball, popular Prague committeeman and former continental soccer star, is again organising a Federation committee team against the Referees.

This game proved very popular last year and raised £200 for charity.

The referees are eager to reverse last season's result, when they lost 1—3.
